

Film Screening and Panel Discussion: Women of Maidan: The Toughest Job

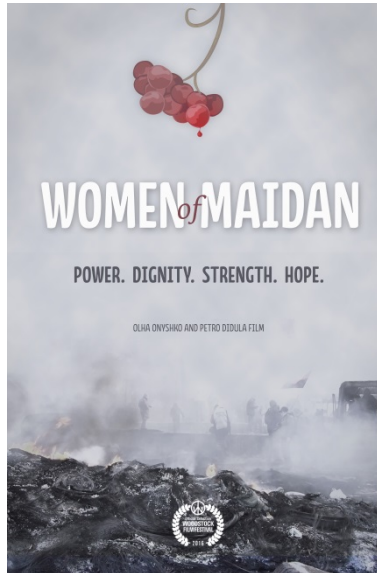

October 25, 2017 @ 6:00 pm – 10 pm

Sometimes standing behind a as dying for it.

Join us in the Toy Lounge on the 4th floor conversation with filmmaker and members of the UNC faculty.

Women of Maidan, a multi-award winning the 2013-2014 Ukrainian Revolution of students beaten by special police forces, support to the front lines of the revolution,
nation, and a new future for their country, entrenched political system. A trailer for https://www.youtube.com/watch?

This event, which is free and open to the Association of North Carolina, the UNC
European studies, UNC Global Relations, Arts Special Activities Fund.

cause takes as much courage of Dey Hall for a film screening and multimedia producer Olha Onyshko and documentary, tells the story of women in Dignity. Called to action after witnessing women brought energy, courage and As they worked for the dignity of their their combined power helped dislodge an the film can be viewed here:

v=WZZKRVTXHT8 public, is sponsored by the Ukrainian Center for Slavic, Eurasian and East and the UNC Provost Office Performing

Dey Hall is located at 200 South Rd, Chapel Hill, NC 27514, between South Road and East Cameron Avenue, on Polk Place, near Wilson Library. Parking is free and available on a first come, first serve basis after 5pm, campus wide. Parking lots near Dey Hall include Bell Tower, Swain and Morehead. A map of parking on campus can be found here:

<https://move.unc.edu/files/2014/11/parking-zone-map.pdf>